

Forbidden Song

Words & Music by Rustam Effendy; Arranged by Fadhil Indra

When the clouds are followed by the rain
We feel the pain
When the night is followed by the dawn
We're broken

I miss your smiling face
In the summer breeze... with the smell of roses

We've been through all the beautiful days
Now they're gone
A lot of laughs along the way
Miss the one

There's so much left behind
It made us insane, we'd crossed the borderline
We just turned around
We're not looking back in the tunnel of time

Chorus:
We should have known this before
But still we've played it for more
And for more...
We were blind to sing along
Wouldn't care too much to know
It was just a forbidden song

When the blue morning goes away
Disappears...

I could give up all my life
For all of moments we had, for your misery kiss
You just stood around
With your empty heart, with sadness in your face

Chorus:
We should have known this before
But still we've played it for more
And for more...
We were blind to sing along
Wouldn't care too much to know
It was just a forbidden song

Music: . . . . .

Chorus:
We should have known this before
But still we've played it for more
And for more...
We were blind to sing along
Wouldn't care too much to know
It was just a forbidden song

Don't let the love turn to hate...
If I am right or if I am wrong...
It was just a forbidden song...
Nothing's wrong...
